I work as the only UX designer on a team of devs. I prototype, design, test, and develop digital experiences on the consumer facing website, the company intranet, and some one-off ipad apps. I brainstorm large brand campaigns, fill designOps functions like maintaining component libraries, dashboards, and spearhead a lot of our creative process improvement.

Worked as part of a design team to accomplish the goals of the client but also of the in-house agency. Handled many concurrent, high-profile projects where I wholly owned UI design, user testing, development, and presentation of web components and digital experiences, in the retail training space.

2018 – Present: Step-Friends
Co-Founder, Designer, Emoji-Maker.

I lead design efforts on all the apps and services we create. I interace directly with both users and developers to design digital solutions that are code-efficient and solve issues for our users. I also develop a good amount of the front end user interfaces I design.
